Pre-K

This week our Pre-K kiddos were hard at work with tons of great hands on activities that were focused in on enhancing their fine motor skills! Ms. Angela worked hard with her students to help them with their cutting and coloring skills. It's crazy to think that cutting along a line could be so difficult, but it is such an important task to be able to accomplish and everyone did great! Thanks to Rodeo break our students enjoyed some time with the older children where they played fun dancing games inside and exciting group games outside!

Preschool

In our three's class this week the main focus was all about community helpers! Ms. Bertha talked to her students about what it means to be a community helper and who some of our community helpers are. Such as: Police officers, fire fighters, bakers, and construction workers. The children did art activities that related to the different types of community helpers we have. The children also participated in fun dramatic play activities where they were able to explore what it looks like to be a community helper! Everyone enjoyed dressing up and playing all the different roles. Everyone's favorite activity was pretending to be a baker because they made yummy banana cookie crumble pudding! We had a great week in preschool!

Two's

Our two year olds had their fun learning about community helpers this week as well! Your little ones enjoyed tons of dramatic play activities with Ms. Raquel where she helped them understand all the different types of jobs people can have that help our community! Some of our hands on activities included making their very own delivery trucks!

While making their trucks the children talked about what types of foods or items were inside their trucks that they were bringing to people. Most of the trucks were filled with yummy ice cream ;) The other favorite activity was having the children make a grocery list with pictures of their favorite food. This allowed us to talk about who works at a grocery store and where the food comes from !

One's

This week in our ones we helped our little ones understand who our community helpers are in our world! We read books about police men and fire men and played dress up with construction worker hats while we built big towers with our blocks! Of course their favorite part was knocking it over ;) Ms. Lynn also had them experiment with different colored playdough, a great way to review our colors !
